

Jackson Martin

Research Associate

Jackson Martin is a Research Associate at MacroPolo, the Paulson Institute's think tank. Jackson conducts quantitative and qualitative research on Chinese politics and political economy.

Previously, Jackson worked as a researcher at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace (Asia Program) where he supported research into innovation across Asian economies. He also gained valuable analytical experience while working on international economic policy issues as an intern with the U.S. Department of State and the Department of the Treasury. He holds an MA in International Relations from Johns Hopkins SAIS with a concentration in China and states, markets, and institutions, and a BA in economics and Chinese Language and Literature from the University of Kansas.